This thesis aim is to study the Portuguese scholars that carried out their peregrinatio academica through the studia generalia of Christendom between the 12th and the 15th centuries, that is, from the origins of the Portuguese realm up to the Renaissance. Based on a prosopographic study, I propose to analyse the mobility of these men across medieval Europe, the setting up of interpersonal networks between them as well as the building of careers regarding the regnum, the sacerdotium or the studium, in order to answer the following question: what was the role of these scholars in the shaping of Portuguese identity?
